Even those who start businesses out of fear of more and more failures due to lack of business knowledge receive them. So, will a middle-class child ever be able to do business? Will only the rich become rich? Many such questions have been answered by Sukant Moha Sii, a young entrepreneur from India. At the age of 23, he changed the meaning of business training after motivating and training more than 1500 corporates, businessmen and students for business. Now he has launched India's first business training centre where an MBA in very simple world-level business knowledge is
